

Your Mission Support at work!

Did you know that your recent Mission Support offering is helping rein in video-game violence for children throughout the country?

It used to be that “Battleship” was about as deadly as any game on the market. Using number logic and strategic reasoning children tried to sink each other’s hidden ships. Now “Grand Theft Auto 3” gives points to players who steal cars and assault police. “Grand Theft Auto: Vice City” calls for killing Haitians. And just when you thought it couldn’t get any worse, “Carmageddon” rewards players for running down pedestrians, including elderly women. This is insane.

But you are not powerless. In fact, your church is already actively doing something about it! By means of the Mission Support of congregations like yours, the ELCA is collaborating with several agencies to increase parental awareness of violence in video games and helping guidelines for retailers to design and manage safe and effective sales policies for selling mature-rated products to minors. Through your gifts and the efforts of many people this church has a voice in research, education, and advocacy on behalf of the nation’s children.

For more information:

www.medialit.org
www.mediafamily.org
www.iccr.org

Your Mission Support at work!

Did you know that your recent Mission Support offering is helping rein in video-game violence for children throughout the country?

It used to be that “Battleship” was about as deadly as any game on the market. Using number logic and strategic reasoning children tried to sink each other’s hidden ships. Now “Grand Theft Auto 3” gives points to players who steal cars and assault police. “Grand Theft Auto: Vice City” calls for killing Haitians. And just when you thought it couldn’t get any worse, “Carmageddon” rewards players for running down pedestrians, including elderly women. This is insane.

But you are not powerless. In fact, your church is already actively doing something about it! By means of the Mission Support of congregations like yours, the ELCA is collaborating with several agencies to increase parental awareness of violence in video games and helping guidelines for retailers to design and manage safe and effective sales policies for selling mature-rated products to minors. Through your gifts and the efforts of many people this church has a voice in research, education, and advocacy on behalf of the nation’s children.

For more information:

www.medialit.org
www.mediafamily.org
www.iccr.org